FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

William J. Jameson, judge of the District Court for the District of Montana, will be the featured speaker at the annual Barristers' Ball, slated April 28 in Missoula.

Judge Jameson will address a capacity crowd of Montana lawyers and faculty and students of the Montana State University Law School. The traditional ball is sponsored by the students body of the Law School.

Jameson, described by Fortune magazine as "one of the most outstanding judges in the country," is a former president of both the American and Montana Bar Associations. He was born and reared in Butte and received his undergraduate and legal education at MSU. He practiced law in Billings, leaving the firm of Coleman, Jameson and Lamey when he was appointed to the federal bench in 1957.

Chairman Keith McCurdy, Missoula, has announced that this year's ball is especially designed for both students and practicing lawyers and jurists of the state. He commented that reservations have been made by notables of the Montana Bar and that more are expected before the April 23 deadline.
